Author's Notes:
This is a slightly different drabble compared to those I usually write.

James looked over at Jason and Kirk. They whispered and giggled, sharing secrets.

Jason's hand was on Kirk's shoulder.

James cramped his fingers around the fretboard of his guitar. The pick in his right hand snapped. He still stared at his bandmates.

They finished rehearsing, and Lars and Kirk left the room.

Jason followed, but James caught him by his arm, dragging him behind some large amps.

"James, what ...?"

James silenced Jason with his hungry lips, kissing him hard.

"You're mine," he then whispered. "Get used to it."

"I AM yours," Jason whispered back. "I always have been."
